Ann Littlewood Zoo Mysteries

Story Ideas

1. The career jumper: From grad school to the commune, from certifying people for food stamps to zoo keeping, from thriving in corporate America to writing mysteries. And with my other hand—raising children, caring for senior relatives, and volunteering.
2. Early retirement: Now what? How to keep from boring yourself to death. One boomer's story.
3. Elephants and humans: Thousands of years together and we still aren't any good at co-existing.
Issues with wild elephants in Asia and Africa in and out of game parks, issues in zoos, circuses, and (in Asia) temples. Impressions from an observer (not an expert!)
4. The wonderful world of mysteries: Figuring out where I fit on the noir scale and the BSP (blatant self-promotion) scale, researching weird animals, and rooming with an exhausted—male—Indian elephant researcher.
